1. OBJECTIVES

- 1.1 To establish a system to objectively link employee performance with PSHSS' vision, mission and strategic goals.
- 1.2 To create a culture of individual and collective efficiency, productivity, accountability and ultimately, performance-based security of tenure in government.
- 1.3 To concretize the linkage of organizational performance with PSHSS' Strategic Plan, and Organizational Performance Indicator.
- 1.4 To ensure organizational and individual effectiveness by cascading institutional accountabilities to the various levels of the organization.

2. SCOPE

This procedure covers all personnel occupying first and second level positions in the PSHS System plantilla as approved by the Department of Budget and Management (DBM).

3. POLICIES

3.1 The Strategic Performance Management System (SPMS) is a mechanism that links employee performance with organizational performance to enhance the performance orientation of the compensation system. It ensures that the employee achieves the objectives set by the organization and the organization, on the other hand, achieves the objectives that it has set as its strategic plan.

3.2 Definition of terms

3.2.1 Performance Management. This component intends to foster continuing improvement in personnel performance and efficiency, and enhance organizational effectiveness and productivity through the review, assessment and diagnosis of individual employee performance.

3.3 The SPMS has the following basic elements:

3.3.1 Goals that are aligned to PSHSS mandate and organizational priorities;

- 3.3.4 Forms that are user-friendly and shows alignment of individual and organizational goals;
- 3.3.5 Information systems that support monitoring and evaluation;
- 3.3.6 A communication plan.

3.4 Evaluation of Individual Performance

- 3.4.1 All rank-and-file employees of PSHSS will undergo a semestral evaluation of individual performance. The evaluation shall provide an objective basis for training and development, promotions and salary adjustments, incentives and rewards, and other related personnel movements including administrative sanctions for employees who may fail to achieve reasonable accomplishments despite their superior's assistance and counselling.

3.5 Evaluation of the Non-Supervisory Employees

- 3.5.1 The individual performance of the non-supervisory rank-and-file employees shall be identified, measured and developed against set Performance Commitment/Targets and pre-determined job-related standards, which are mutually agreed upon by the rater and the ratee, consistent with the organizational goals and objectives.
- 3.5.2 The Performance Output shall be rated in terms of following:
 - 3.5.2.1 quantity, quality and time - 100%.
 - 3.5.2.2 behavioral factors such as attendance, punctuality, human relations, work attitudes, resourcefulness, reliability and integrity which affect actual job are subsumed to have integrated in the evaluation of targets
 - 3.5.2.3 Likewise, the evaluation shall include the rater's comments on the ratee's strengths and potential or his needs for training and development.

3.6 Evaluation of the Supervisory Employees

- 3.6.1 The individual performance of the supervisors shall be identified, measured and developed against set Performance Commitment/Targets and pre-determined job-related standards,

- 3.6.2.4 Likewise, the evaluation shall include the rater's comments on the ratee's strengths and potential or his needs for training and development.

3.6.3 Staff Management and Supervision

- 3.6.3.1 The development of employees is considered primary strategy in the improvement of organizational effectiveness and individual employee performances. For this purpose, all employee exercising supervisory functions are responsible for the direct supervision and management of their respective personnel. Such mechanisms as those enumerated below form part of supervisory responsibilities and are considered as measures of supervisory performance effectiveness.

- 3.6.4 SPMS complements the Results-Based Performance Management System that is implemented by the school and that links organizational performance to societal goals. It is also linked to the Performance-Based Incentive System (PBIS) that consists of the Productivity Enhancement Incentive (PEI) and the Performance-Based Bonus (PBB).

3.7 The SPMS follows a four-stage cycle, consisting of the following:

- 3.7.1 Performance planning and commitment - During this stage, success indicators are determined. Success indicators are performance level yardsticks consisting of performance measures and performance targets. These shall serve as bases in the office's and individual employee's preparation of their performance contract and rating form.

3.7.2 Performance monitoring and coaching - the performance of the office and every individual shall be regularly monitored at various levels. Monitoring and evaluation mechanisms ensure that timely and appropriate steps can be taken to keep a program on track, and that its objectives or goals are met in the most effective manner. Managers and supervisors act as coaches and mentors to provide an enabling environment/intervention to improve team performance, and to manage and develop individual potentials.

3.7.3 Performance review and evaluation - This phase aims to assess both office's and individual employee's performance level based on performance targets and measures as approved in the office and individual performance commitment contracts. Part of the individual employee's evaluation is the competency assessment vis-à-vis the competency requirements of the job. The assessment shall focus on the strengths, competency-related performance gaps and the opportunities to address these gaps, career paths, and alternatives.

3.7.4 Performance rewarding and development planning - the results of the performance evaluation/assessment shall serve as inputs for the school's HR Plan, which includes identification and provision of developmental interventions, and conferment of rewards and incentives.

3.8 SPMS Rating Scale. The SPMS uses a five-point rating scale, described as follows:

Numerical Rating	Adjectival Rating	Description
5	Outstanding	Performance represents an extraordinary level of achievement and commitment in terms of quality and time, technical skills and knowledge, ingenuity, creativity, and initiative. Employees at this performance level should have demonstrated exceptional job mastery in all major areas of responsibility. Employee achievement and contributions to the
